 Hey! I am a local photography student, looking to expand my portfolio by offering you low cost photography services. I am well versed, so I can do pretty much any type of photography. I have a mini studio set up for product photography, but I am also available for event and portrait shots. I have a number of years worth of experience including an internship as well as volunteering my time at nonprofits such as the ARC of the Triangle and RDU Crew.

 I only charge about $50/hour, and the photos are published under creative commons meaning you can print them without having to pay me per use! Basically, I will only charge you for the time I spend, after that the photos are free for use.

 Check out my website for further information and a portfolio
