Large wood reptile enclosure with fake rock interior. It's just under 5ft long, at 59 inches. Depth is a little under 28 inches. Interior height is 29 inches from floor to ceiling. There are holes drilled for lights, and humidifier tube. The enclosure is two stories.

It was originally an old kitchen cabinet that I cleaned up a bit, and added onto. Parts of the exterior are pretty, others are ugly. It also needs a new door to be fully functional. I was going to clean up the back more, but never had the time. This was a rush job, but it's worked great for my monitor. It also comes with a cave that hooks onto a ledge in the back of the top floor.

This is incredibly heavy. It will take a couple of strong people to move. I was going to put wheels on it, but never got around to it.

$100 OBO and I will completely clean out the interior. You have some time to figure out how to get it, as I won't be parting with it for another couple of weeks when I'm moving to Portland. (my monitor will have new digs there)

I may also be willing to trade for a comparable, large arboreal.
