Did you ever dream to become an occasional teacher and share your knowledge, either for profit or just for the pleasure of sharing? And did the roadblocks to find a physical location or to create a website stop you?

We have a solution, our upcoming website: "ViaClouds.com"!

It is a platform to learn and teach - 24/7 and it is accessible from anywhere. You can teach nearly any topic and you can do so via live on-line classes or via pre-recorded videos.

We believe that we all have something to learn and we all have something to teach! So, we created this "supermarket" where you can, with a click of a button, upload educational videos into your teacher profile, or schedule live webinars, or 1-2-1 tutoring classes on topics you want to teach about (e.g. guitar, cars, yoga, math, rocket science, etc.) to students worldwide!

Our live platform is a Skype on probiotics ;-)

You can teach students worldwide from your tablet or you PC; they can attend live classes from any electronic device they want (phones, tablets, laptops, etc.). We also wrote teaching advises, so that anyone can teach his/her passions without any specific educational skillsets, and start monetizing his/her knowledge.

In your profile you can see your sales, your calendar and the feedback the students left on the classes they took. Also, in your account you can see reports of all your classes' attendances and revenues.

We plan to launch in this month!

We need some teachers to sign up prior to the official launch. We normally retain 25% of all the teachers' sales to cover our expenses (PayPal fees, Live platform, site maintenance, etc.), but for the teachers who accept to join us now and have classes, before the official launch, we will reimburse you half of our 25% fee for all your sales, for a period of a year post launch.

Are you interested? Do you want to be part of the learning/teaching revolution?

 We look forward to having you on board.

Thank you
