Co-Battery is coming to Alaska !
 Are you frustrated with your iPhone's battery life? Has your phone ever died while you were traveling, or out with friends? Do you find yourself carrying around a charger or battery pack in your pocket or purse, because you're worried that your iPhone might die?

With CoBattery you don't need to wait around while your phone charges. Let the battery charge while you go about your day, and swap whenever it's convenient for you. Don't spend your life tethered to a wall.

What will you do when you never need to worry about battery life?
 Additional batteries will be available for purchase, and they aren't expensive. Buy a few extra batteries to keep in your backpack or purse, and you'll be covered even on the longest of journeys or most unexpected of circumstances

The CoBattery case protects your internal iPhone battery from this damaging cycling pattern. When you put a charged battery on your CoBattery case it will first charge the internal iPhone battery to 100% and from then on the phone will run off the battery on the case. With normal usage, your internal iPhone battery will remain at 100% charge, and your phone runs off of the CoBattery.

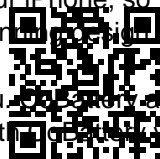

CoBattery fits snugly around your iPhone, maintaining its sleek profile. Have you ever noticed that almost all battery cases extend past the bottom of your phone by 1 cm or more? We have designed a custom lightning connector that fits flush along the bottom of your iPhone, so you can enjoy no longer worrying about your iPhone's battery life without compromising its stunning design.

We've even have a flexible schedule and match to your life. CoBattery allows you to get the most out of your iPhone's battery life when you need it. With CoBattery you have the case to put away your passions.

Take CoBattery on a long hike, and you can be sure you'll have enough charge to navigate your way home. Love to travel? Throw a few charged batteries into your backpack to give you charge for a week!

Kanye West or Kenny Chesney. Coachella or Tomorrowland. No matter your style, CoBattery will keep you rocking. Make sure that when your band comes on you're in the first row and not caught up at a charging.
