This awesome industrial wooden with iron accents ladder has chipped robin's egg blue paint and would make a great display piece! I found it in Portland as it was used for a window display for handcrafted jewelry. It has many nails along each rung which hung the jewelry. This is a great show piece and the nails could be easily removed to use for hanging display or linens? I never used it in the space I had planned on and now don't have that space. It has been in storage for over a year now. call or text: five oh three-951
