(95k miles only) 1999 Dodge Ram 3500 Van the maxi extended version with seats for 15. It has a 5.9 360 engine, 46re automotive with overdrive/lock up transmission and the upgraded option 4000lb axle. So here's the bad... The frame cracked right where the steering box is and has rust in the same area. it's repairable or use any and all parts you need then scrap the rest. Let me start with this, I own 4 of these vans and this one by far mechanically is the best. The engine and transmission have both been gone through and run amazingly! Tires are all near new, the battery is near new, the seats are in amazing shape from front to back. Respectable Van inside and out, privacy glass all the way down both sides and rear window has defogger. The air conditioning is all intact and was working up until last year and believe it just needs a couple cans of 134a recharge? No check engine codes, and the emmisins are up to snuff with a perfectly working catalytic converter and O2 sensors. it is still state inspected till I believe the end of July and I was using vehicle just up until 3 days ago. Unmolested interior, floors are good etc etc. the engine and tranny alone are worth it! I can't stress this s a turn key Van that idles fine, shifts fine, runs strong coasting along at 75mph. Just has the front frame issue. Babied vans are rare! $1000 cash (no room for price drop or haggle) or trade of equal value, clean registration in my name! If it doesn't sell I'm pulling the engine and tranny, seats, rims and tires, battery etc. and scrapping the rest. The seats individually sell on eBay for $400!
