Many people kill or "put down" their precious dog because they are in pain and the vet's/dr.'s cannot figure out what is wrong with them. I have learned over the past 5 years (because it happened to my dog) that 9 times out of 10, if all tests come back "normal", take your dog directly to a Chiropractor because the dog is in significant pain in his back. Many dogs cannot walk and have severe weakness/paralysis in their legs due to pain, pinched nerved, ruptured disc. etc...

Dogs haves spines too just like we do, and they can slip out of place just like ours can slip. Their no different, except they can't tell us what is wrong and they depend on us for help, just like babies do. **Dont even let your dog have back surgery before seeing these chiropractors.**

Dog owners kill (euthanize) their dog so the pain will go away but all they had to do is take them to a good dog Chiropractor and they will save your dogs life. It might take more than one spinal adjustment. The 2 best Chiropractors to go to is:

*** Dr. Gene Giggelman in Dallas

*** Dr. Warren W.Wilson in Eules
