I have an adorable baby hedgehog available to a loving home. He is very affectionate and curious. He's definitely not shy and would make the perfect pet. He has just been weaned and is finally ready to leave mom and find his forever home. He's looking for a home where he will receive lots of attention. Experience is preferred, but not necessary. His rehoming fee is $200, but may be negotiated for the perfect home. He is the last of his litter and he won't be available long. So, if you're interested, contact me!
