A nonprofit funding strategy includes many different elements to generate financial streams. Grant writing is a tool that's widely used to secure grant monies. Don't make the mistake of developing requests if your organization isn't prepared to work within a grantor's guidelines. If you are grant ready, I will accompany you through each phase of the proposal and grant process from research to close-out of your award. Let's talk soon to go over a plan to build a compelling case for your nonprofit programs and specific needs. Thank!
