I believe that education should be cooperative instead of competitive. It should feed curiosity and create joy and compassion toward others. I base education on observations of children and the discovery of their needs, rather than on a curriculum of educational objectives. My aim is to cultivate every child's intellect and natural gifts, and to balance instruction with natural discovery so that learning becomes fundamentally rewarding.

My home is safe, clean and neat. It is located in a quiet neighborhood, on a private street. I have a fenced yard with manicured grass and paved areas for lots of safe outside play, as well as tons of toys.

My main goals are to:

- *Encourage personal social development and to promote emotional growth.
- Using circle time as a way to teach your child to follow instructions, learn to share (being able to play with one toy and pass along to your friend), get to know things about each other (favorite color, favorite ice cream flavor, color of eyes, names of siblings etc.) and not to mention, singing songs. These activities are designed not only to entertain but also to promote your child's self confidence and to engage them in conversation.

*Developing language skills

Learning abc's, shapes, colors, days, months, seasons, phonics, numbers, counting, states and planets and the use of picture books and story time.

*Employ sensory stimulation

I use singing, story time and music appreciation to capture and keep your little ones motivated, balanced and happy. We also use puzzles, blocks, play-doh and manipulative toys to allow your child to expand their hand and eye and coordination ability.

*Teach children to balance academics with physical activity

I do this by allowing plenty of safe outdoor play to help exercise large body muscles.

*Facilitate Montessori based materials to plant the seeds for early reading, writing and math.

*Steer children toward independence

I involve children in everyday activities and chores, such as cooking, sweeping, dusting, watering, etc. These chores will teach them things like how to cut their own bread, spread their own jelly and serve their own milk and how to put their own clothes on and put away their own dishes.

To re-enforce these goals, a balanced health conscious breakfast or hot lunch, two snacks, and large portions of unconditional love will be provided daily at no extra charge.

I look forward to hearing from you.
