We approach our relationship toward each of our clients with compassion, dedication, concern, respect and care. When you hire Cascadia Disability Law, we are with you every step of the way, whether you are deciding to pursue disability benefits, need assistance applying for benefits, appealing a denial of your application for benefits or filing an appeal in federal court. We treat you with dignity and respect and when you retain Cascadia Disability Law, you work with an attorney and that attorney never forgets that you are a human being attempting to get to a better place, not merely a number in a high-volume caseload or an inconvenient interruption.

The Social Security Administration (SSA) has a number of programs affording benefits to individuals with disabilities. The great majority of individuals suffering from disabling conditions that prevent them from working have their initial applications for Social Security disability benefits denied and denied again upon reconsideration. When an application is denied the individual has the legal right to appeal that decision -- the deadlines for appealing a denial generally are strict and not very long so an individual should not delay in appealing a denial from the SSA.

We can prepare your case to present it in the most favorable light for the SSA. We can secure medical evidence, get doctors' opinions and take witness statements. We can explain the Social Security processes and what your options are. We can advise individuals whether to file a claim for Social Security disability benefits and which types of benefits to seek. We regularly serve clients in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and California. If you would like a free telephone consultation with an experienced Social Security disability benefits lawyer, call 1-800-891-0867 or email us today!
