Whats up Craigslist, I have to leave back to California for a family emergency tonight and I am looking to rent out my place when im gone to keep up with bills and what not. Its a nice little one bed room, one bath apartment with full kitchen, laundry, and parking located just east of the denver museum of nature and science. There is no one that will be available to show apartment for me so you will have to judge if you would like to stay by my pictures. I left keys hidden and accessible In front of my place. After payment is made I will give you my address, guide you to keys and also give you wifi password and my guest username/ password on my computer if you need to use it. If interested and can fill in asap please text me @
