It's only make believe // Boou Boyet

I like the simple but effective melody, it is not distracting and the tempo goes well with the songs vocals. I don't know what genre this song would be considered, but it genuinely sounds like something that was released decades ago, and not in a bad way. I can see this song being popular with people looking for that old style of music.

Purge // G2P the Band

Very nice guitar and drum rhythms. The tempo and energy of the beat goes really well with the high energy vocals. I like the hook and the lyrics. The song seemed a little bit low at times, however I think that was desired. Although I usually don't listen to this genre of music, I thought that this was done particularly well.

These Streets (feat. Mark Lowndes) // 21hundred

The beat/melody is pretty good. I like it because it really seems different (in a good way) than a lot of music on the radio today. I like the deep relatable lyrics on all of the verses. The hook/chorus and the first verse were a little bit difficult to hear and I would recommend slightly increasing their volume levels.
