Whether you're just starting or looking to improve your established skills, my guitar lessons will help you to the next level. I started playing guitar at five years old, and the instrument is second nature to me. My goal is to help my students reach this point. I've played in blues, rock, country, jazz, and soul bands across the country, and recorded my last album in India. I lived in Kenya for a while, and during that time I performed with my own blues band and learned how to play Lingala music. By working on the songs and genres that you like, I will help you understand how music works using theory as a tool, not an end goal. I will not bombard you with endless songs and riffs and chords to learn. Instead, I will show you how to use your ear and a basic knowledge of harmony to play along with just about any song--even ones you haven't heard before. Learning with me will be a fun and confident experience. I am a person who enjoys working with other people and what music is all about! I have experience with the kids as well as adults. I am a very energetic person and I will help you get the most out of your next music lesson. Please, make your lessons as fun as possible. I will help you to reach your goals and your dreams. I charge $10.00 per hour for instruction. We can discuss discounts for a purchase of multiple lessons, or group lessons, etc. Please reference the title of this post in the subject line of your email. Keywords: responsive web design, web development, internet marketing, Joomla, wordpress, Drupal, open cart, prestashop, virtuemart, open realty, ecommerce, shopping carts, web hosting, domains, social media management, poc management, search engine optimization, graphic design, multimedia I represent a team of professionals ready to pick up projects of any level of complexity. We have enough resources to take your project We do websites of the highest quality We can help to plan projects We can not fail. Our team consists of clever guys who are
