Himalayan Medicine of Cheyenne has been proudly serving the people of Cheyenne since 2007. We are proud to announce the opening of our new Lincolnway office.

In both our former Cheyenne locations and in our other Wyoming and Colorado locations, we have been able help thousands of patients dealing with complaints ranging from chronic pain to life threatening disease.

Himalayan Medicine is an ancient and natural indigenous form of high-altitude medicine sharing some common ground with both classical Indian (Ayurvedic) and Chinese Medicines. Practiced with great success for thousands of years in Tibet, it was brutally suppressed after the genocidal Red Chinese invasion in 1959. Driven underground in it's homeland, it found a new seat in Nepal.

Safe from racist communist oppression, teachers were able to travel from Nepal to mountainous areas throughout the free world spreading knowledge. We are proud to be of their lineage, and look forward to serving the community for many more years.

Our practitioners hold credentials and experience in many areas of health & wellness besides Himalayan Medicine; experience that helps see with more than one set of eyes. Our practitioners take the time to treat the whole person, not just ease symptoms.

Himalayan Medicine, like all forms of medicine, is NOT THE BEST FIT FOR EVERYONE. The big determiner is patient compliance and self-motivation. Many desperate people turn to "alternative medicine" looking for a miracle (too little, too late), only to find the magic wand is busted.

-If you want the doc to "fix me" with a pill or procedure, you'll probably find your MD a better fit.

-If you are an "alternative medicine" dilettante, bouncing around from Shaman-to-ND-to-Reiki Master-to-Chiropractor, please feel free to leave us out of the loop. Healthy change and persistence with a goal and commitment are preferred to the more of those lacking the maturity to stick to it.

-If you want a family ending in a lawsuit to any where, and not just know where to go, and you want your self relying to the Cheyenne MD, we'll even have a pointman to your my promise, "it's a snake like" excuse to a judge.

-If you expect insurance to foot the bill, you MD will again be the better option. Quotes are pretty damn reasonable, but likely not less than your co-pay. We don't allow insurance companies to dictate our standard of care.

-If you want pot...oops, I mean MJJ, you're in the wrong state. A trip south might be in order, preferably with a abstaining designated driver.

-If you prefer not to change the life style factors that negatively impact your health, perhaps a visit to your priest would be in order.

People who would BENEFIT MOST from Himalayan Medicine are those who truly believe God helps those who help themselves. The more of the below categories you fall into, the more likely you are to benefit from what we offer:

- cares about the quality of your food, perhaps gardens for food
- exercises regularly and moderately
- churchgoer, or active spiritual life
- drinks plenty of water
- gets the principle of individuality, without being obnoxious and stupid about it
- practices moderation, if not abstinence where drugs and alcohol are concerned
- understand the significance of commitment and time when it comes to creating healthy homeostasis
- does not partake in extreme dietary practices
- in addition to regular exercise, has a physical daily lifestyle
- mentally flexible enough to adapt as appropriate; not tied to counterproductive dogma (i.e. prefers not to sip the kool aid, thank you very much)
- is socially active in ways that promote community well-being
