At 12am a friend came over and a cat followed him in from the parking lot. She's friendly and calm. Unfortunately she does not have a cat collar but she doesn't look like a stray. She's mostly clean and has gotten pretty acquainted with our apt. I will be bringing her to the shelter tomorrow morning or afternoon to see if she is microchipped. We will probably be leaving her there because my sisters and I are allergic to cats. Call my sister at if she is yours. We really hope she finds her owner asap. I couldn't imagine how worried her family must be. (We bought some cat food for her so do not worry, we're trying our best to care for her for the)
