Love this dog, but he is a full size ding dong puppy. Honestly, he is a pill, he chews, he digs, he runs...but there are some positives; like he will love you no matter what, sleep by your side every night, beg to go with you everywhere, and is always ready for a new adventure: he goes camping, he can sit, he is potty trained, he goes in his kennel, he knows the rules (but as any seven month old pup does, he pushes the line), and is a picky eater.

He is neutered and could be papered.

He grew up with kids, but tries to be dominant. In other words, he will try and push them around and not listen to them at all.

It does break my heart, as he is my man, but we have too many kids in and out playing and sleepovers.

There is a rehoming fee. And please just email me with any questions. I am going to be picky though as he really is a good boy, just needs to find the right.
