StylingOn.com is a premium styling service that connects people with designers and professional stylists. StylingOn assists with everything from conceptualizing an image for clients and curating looks, to holding their hand through the often-intimidating shopping process. StylingOn's primary goal is to deliver style and integrate fashion into the lives of each client by creating an all-encompassing experience, that goes beyond that of traditional styling services.

We are headquartered in NYC, although we have clients nation-wide. We are looking for stylists from all major cities in the US. Stylists MUST be experienced with personal styling. By joining our network, you will be given new client leads on a weekly basis, and we expect that you will be able to satisfy our clients with your styling services.

This is a part-time job, and we are flexible with your schedule. This is a remote position, so you have to be comfortable and responsible with managing your client schedules.
