
(distressed (claws won't hurt) leather chairs and stain/scratch resistant sofas, huge dog park across the street., wildlife trails adjacent. Sister is a vet at New Bolton Center, recent divorce has her at my dad's, so I'll see her often, my Father has a small farm in Landenberg, couple mellow horses that like dogs, and his friendly jack Russell collie dog. I'm newly single, this will be my full time companion pup, 24/7, sleep at the foot of the bed, come with me to work (although I will train to prevent separation anxiety, very important). I also visit my brother often (several times a week), my niece is 6, very, good with dogs. And his wife is a professional groomer, so it will be a very clean, happy pooch!

Very experienced with Shepherds and Labs, grandfather used to train dogs, for breeders, hunters, and citizens. Please no crazy expensive Rehoming fees, new house means lots of expenses, (shelter equivalent homing fee is no problem, and reimbursement for the dog's property, toys, bowls, Crate if used, bed, etc. Is fine.

I'll feed whatever you have been feeding for consistency.

Mixes are fine (actually helps prevent certain ailments) Mutts even, other breeds would be ok too.

Other breeds I like

Shibu Inu (a favorite, pet sat all summer and begged to keep him)

Australian Shepherd

Austrian Shepherd (Malmo is orwhat's the cool black one called?)

Black lab (all labs)

Golden Retriever

Border Collie/English Shepherd

Alaskan Malamute

Siberian Husky

Pomeranian (bigger mixed ones are really cool)

Weimeriner

Japanese Dog, Shiba Inu (another favorite)

Portuguese water dogs

Bulldog (not pit's, the big headed slobbering kind)

Belgian pug (squish face)

Poodle, especially poodle mixes.

oh, Irish Setters, another fav!

Many other breeds Too. Smarter the better.

The only Breeds I don't care for

Doberman

Rottweiler

Pit Bulls and related type dogs (I know they are usually sweet, had bad experience)

Dalmatian
Greyhound whippet mean dogs

So, hopefully someone has a dog for me.
If you read my entire ad , thank you.

Text while I'm working, can't answer than, I will call back, or keep calling, no voice mail

please, no more scams.

If this ad is still up I'm STILL looking, tried Acct shelter in Philly, but the dogs are mostly pits. Prefer 6 months to 2years, or a puppy, but healthy 5-7+ ok too. dogs requiring chronic health care, injection s, etc, could be ok, I can manage a cate routine

I'm a glass blower, I can also trade glass pieces, ornaments, desk planters, marbles, hummingbird feeder s, my implosion and vortex marbles sell for $50-200 , I will definitely give you one of them, and a hummingbird feeder, working on glass prismatic hummingbird s now, and Minions!, you know you want a 5":glass kevin!: I used to work at Gallery 908 in philly.

Thanks again,
John Adam Cotter
