I am an expert mathematics coach with over 10 years experience teaching high school mathematics and a master's degree from a major university. I specialize in helping middle and high school students overcome stress and discouragement using their mathematical studies. In addition, I help pupils who have hit a wall in mathematics and can't seem to clear that final hurdle that takes them from a B+ to an A, or translate their hard work into great test scores. Through a routine regimen of one-on-one tutoring, you will see a remarkable transformation. I've worked with countless students and am almost always successful in quickly developing confidence, comprehension and mastery in math. Because of this, C's turn to B's, and B's turn to A's. I am fluent in a full range of subjects, including pre-algebra, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, common core, calculus and statistics. And, of course, I tutor honors courses and AP courses. My program is flexible and convenient. Also, my first sessions are always free.
