I have a band that I've been performing with for a while but now I am looking to extend it. The same sound except a symphonic metal band. My influences as far as bands that fit into this category are stream of passion and early lacuna coil but this will be a tad different. Very unique. message me! I already have a developed idea as it will be just an addition to my current project in which i technically run by myself and am the owner of but have live band mates. This would be the same but more working together as a band. So, I need a drummer, guitar, bass, keys (i also play keys) and any other interesting instrument that you think would compliment the sound. I'm open for some ideas but mainly this will be heavily influenced by 80s goth rock/ classical music.. it will be intense. Message me:)
