Apprentice position for assembling industrial equipment
If you have experience tinkering, you may be right for the opportunity

I am a perfectionist and i only believe in achievement, not effort
The ideal candidate will be able to understand simple instructions and perform them exactly as taught

This will be a great opportunity for an individual who is looking to study engineering/ robotics etc; as you will receive real world experience

As the candidate will need to be taught before they are able to work on their own, the position will primarily be for training and learning

There are projects that will utilize the skills you have learned, that offer compensation

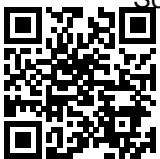

In order to apply for this position, please send a cover letter stating why you feel you are right for this position

Include a resume or small biography

State your reliable transportation to and from work as well as the times you are available

YOU MUST INCLUDE A PHONE #
