Have you ever wondered who designed these things? Very bright engineers, of course!! These engineers are no joke! Modern power window regulators are designed to break! They were designed to "pop and drop", designed to get hung up and "fall off the track". Crazy, we know, we know, but it gets worse! Other repair shops quote $350-$700 to repair it and you'll lose your ride for a day or more! We've got news for you! Not only is our proprietary repair less expensive, but it's actually engineered to fortify the weakest points of the OEM power window regulator, to give you years of use. How's that for satisfaction?
