I'm quite the mysterious type. I'm new to the shelter and slowly letting people get to know me. So far, I am very relaxed, chill and much like a couch potato. I like exploring, bird watching and napping. I also like being petted (mostly on my head and neck and NOT lower back). I do have a limit on being petted and that is when my `grumpy side` appears. Keep in mind, I am new and the shelter environment is very different from a home environment. I will update you as I get more used to my surroundings. You can visit with me and get to know me!
