I've had a male normal ball python for the last 3 months. He's a decent eater, docile, and very active. I recently decided however, that I'd rather get into colubrids than ball pythons. I'm willing to trade him for whatever you got colubrid wise. Corn snakes, rat snakes, milk snakes, just make me an offer. This trade is solely for the reptiles, set ups are not included.

Thanks a bunch,
