My name is Jeff Williams and I've been teaching and playing guitar full time for over 12 years. I graduated from Westfield State University with a concentration on jazz guitar. My approach towards teaching is individualized for each student, focusing on what the student wants to learn and helping them discover where their musical interests lie. The lessons emphasize having fun while learning in a stress free environment.

My teaching Approach Is Different:

You may be wondering what makes me different than all the other guitar teachers out there. We start off by figuring out what you're looking to get out of the lessons and then create a clear path towards those goals. I've written my own books along with other materials to support my students learning process and create studio quality recordings of students as teaching tools to boost their confidence, commitment and creativity.

"Jeff is a talented musician that can really help hone your own skills and teach you tricks that you wouldn't be able to find online or with other teachers."

"I used to view guitar lessons as something that was very specific and had to be done a certain way.Â Taking lessons with Jeff has changed that view. Now I see it as something where EVERYONE LEARNS THEIR OWN WAY and AT THEIR OWN PACE.?"

My favorite thing about the lessons is that I get to learn about what I want to do with the guitar.Â I've always wanted to play lead guitar with a focus on improvisational playing and in the lessons that's mostly what I learn to do.?"

Jeff has a UNIQUE and EFFECTIVE way of explaining musical things to someone who doesn't know much about music and relating those things to something they know about."
