

Need to Expunge Criminal Convictions

Do you have a misdemeanor or felony conviction, or even multiple convictions on your record? Under the current Indiana Expungement law, you may be able to have your criminal convictions expunged, even if you do have a felony or multiple convictions, and even if the convictions are in multiple counties.

I have helped numerous individuals in several counties under Indiana's Second Chance Law which was just passed July 1, 2013. I will be able to determine whether your convictions are able to be expunged, and I have the know-how to make sure that your paperwork is correctly filed.

I also can help with sealing arrest records that did not result in a conviction.

I understand how difficult it can be to secure gainful employment in this already tough economy with convictions on your criminal record, or how frustrating it can be to not have the same voting or gun rights as others because of your past.

Please call me today to set up a free consultation to determine whether your conviction record is eligible to be expunged under the current law, so I can help you get the fresh start you deserve.
