So basically, my company just launched a new blog section on our website. We already have a lot of content written, but we are looking for people to post comments for those blog posts in order to create some buzz. This is a financial company so most of the posts will be about money. There is no prior experience necessary but we are looking for people with good email communication skills since that will be our primary form of contact. You must be able to follow simple instructions!

You will receive $0.50 for each comment you make, capped at 1 comment per day. We will give you an account that you will be able to use to post on our website. If you are interested in this gig, simply email me the following information:

Your Email: _____

Your Name: _____

Please include "comment writer" in the subject line and tell me a little bit about yourself in 3 or 4 sentences.

The website is www.retirement.whotrades.com so you can take a look at the type of comments people write to the blog posts and see if it's something that you are able to do before you:)
