I am looking for a new partner to join my online cam business. I have been very successful making money off online cams, beyond the amount of $65-100/hour. I have a system established to ensure these hourly returns, however I have been unfortunate enough to have my partner of 6+ months drop out on me.

I am looking for a new partner to continue doing online cams with me. The specific "duties" are based on what the cam viewers want to see, and what you are comfortable with doing. Obviously there is some degree of linear relation here - without being too blunt - the more you are willing to do, the more hourly cash there is. Either way even for more "vanilla" camshows, my system can assure a minimum of $30/hour.

We would need to be together to perform these shows, and I am willing and ready to host at my place (in fact, it is preferred - given my place is setup with various cams). Nothing will be asked if you beyond your comfort level, which can be discussed prior via chat - this should absolutely be considered a business opportunity.

I am rather urgent to pick up a new partner in order to sustain my current income/lifestyle - even if that means doing lower rate shows in the meantime, however I would prefer to establish a relationship with a long term partner. Everything is seriously legit and on the level - and can be backed up with relevant records (doctor, etc) so if you are looking to step a bit outside your comfort level to make some serious bucks, please let me know.

Note: I am a 26 year old male. Looking for female partners.
