I am looking for a transporter with a flatbed to pick up large haylage bales in Woodstock, CT, and transport them to my farm in Glocester, RI at various times throughout the year. The distance is 23 miles. The farmer will load the bales at pick up, and I will unload them at drop off. I get approximately 200 of these bales per year, but cannot store more than 40 at any given time.

You will need to have a flatbed that can carry at least 20,000lbs. The bales weigh approximately 1500lbs each and are approximately 3.5' round. The more that you can carry the better. Please email me with any questions. Payment per load will depend upon how many you can.
