Wood Mobile Media is seeking web developers to build and publish iPhone and Android apps. We provide the training and software. You provide the clients, negotiate the prices, build and submit the apps to the app stores, and receive your pay directly from the clients. We get 25% of your negotiated rate, you keep the rest!

If interested, please respond to this post with a little bit about your background. No experience is necessary, but any tech skills would be helpful. We will provide tech support via email and training as.
