In late November 2012, a house fire took my sister's home and most of her animals. One of her cats, Imhotep, survived the fire and hid in the neighborhood; we're hoping he survived the winter and is somewhere in Eagle River, perhaps near the original neighborhood (near the post office).

Imhotep is a 7-year-old, neutered, long-haired black kitty with a small spot of white on his chest and a long, fox-like face. He's quite shy but not feral and should respond to humans.

If you see a kitty matching this description, please email me. I can only hope and pray we can find this kitty and reunite him with his devastated mom. Thank you so.
