Hello!

I'm a young student/waitress looking to move to Minneapolis in mid August.

I'm looking for a roommate to share a 2br (maybe even 2bath) apartment near downtown, my personal budget is somewhere around $550 per month. I'm looking for someone who is clean, honest, and not a huge partier- with a good sense of humor, of course.

About me-

I'm a friendly English major, singer, writer, and netflix/tv enthusiast (parks and rec, ointb, and flight of the conchords are some of my favorites). I like to joke around a lot and I enjoy traveling, checking out art, riding my bike, and going to shows in addition to hanging out at home. I'm a supporter of equality in its many forms- race, gender, sexuality, so if you aren't, we may not be a good match. I'm pretty laid back and I don't usually drink unless I'm out with friends. I don't bring groups home much unless I check in first, although I have teamed up with roommates for a couple kickass parties in the past.

I'm looking for someone like-minded, clean, and responsible to live with.

PS- I'm currently living out of state so if you're in the area and able to visit apartments it's a huge plus

If you're interested contact me and tell me a bit about yourself- we can get to know each other and hopefully we can discuss finding a place!
