Looking for a solid, self-motivated PHP dev for 20-40hrs/month. Can be moonlighting on top of your day job, but must be able to work regularly throughout the week.

At first, you'll be converting an existing Python-based screen scraping tool to a hosted PHP app with a basic interface.

Next, you'll be continually working on and improving that application.

To be considered, you'll need to know how to answer these questions and know what you're talking about:

- What the difference is between a class and an object (yes, this is PHP)
- What the difference is between an INNER and OUTER join (pick your DBMS platform)
- What CodeIgniter is and why you should use
