You wouldn't entrust your brain surgery to the resident, so why would you ever consider an amateur to build your website in order to save money.

With 80% of consumers looking to Google to search where to buy products, you need a quality website to stand out and present your quality products and services.

If you don't have a website, than more than 80% of potential customers will never hear about you. To make things worse, Google favors high traffic websites that people stay on over low quality ones that people leave right away. Quality websites are exponentially more important in today's business to gain sales.

You're investing in your business to gain more customers and sales when purchasing a quality website.
