Hello !

I can honestly say I have not done anything like this before and after much debate with posting this ad or not- I have decided to go ahead and post in hopes of finding someone who is willing and able to help.

What I am looking for is a kindhearted individual with a stable income that would be willing to loan me $2,500.00 without causing any financial strain to your own life. I realize that this is a lot of money and would still love to chat you if you are able to do even part of that however the number isn't just a number I made up but more a list of bills and finances that I have listed out that with that amount - would help me rest a little better at the end of the day. I can promise you that I have never done drugs in my life, barely drink, do not "blow" my money on unnecessary things, am a college graduate (would assume with a degree would be all fine and dandy right ? haha) - but between some health issues and other circumstances arising- paying the basic bills has only added to the high blood pressure and anxiety lately that I am trying to eliminate. The loan would directly go to bills (as I would be curious to what this is going to be used for in the reverse situation).

I have not established credit (as I am proud to say I have never owned a credit card) or I would go to the bank for this situation. I am a trustworthy, hard working, full time employee, that I cannot stress enough - that there would be ZERO issues or complications with me paying you back in payments. The payments can be arranged by you and also (just as if I was able to go to the bank) you can even charge me what seems fair for interest. I can not explain how grateful I would be to whomever is able to respond to this email or help.

The last thing I want is for this to come off as is a pity party as like I mentioned- just trying to pay some bills (without going to family as I know they would have no problem helping but would like to avoid that if I can) before I get more behind. You are welcome to ask me ANY and ALL questions (you are welcome to also creep my facebook/ life as I promise I am a good person haha) to get to know me and be reassured that there is no risk in this but just something that I realized not a lot of people are able to do. I would like to try and keep this semi confidential as I am embarrassed to even have to do this in the first place so if you are looking to get any recognition or show off please the other way would have to be I would just like to avoid any one thinking of me as bragging anything for this I just want it to be absolute Something I find interesting is I don't say that to be mean but figure mention that to save your time

Thanks so much for taking a minute to read this and for being able to see I would love to see you and hope to play game day. Not getting much sleep back and how you would be my hero by alleviating some of the stress I have currently been experiencing.

Thank you again, God bless you, and have a great!
