We are seeking a caricature artist to participate in a short segment of a film we are making. This segment involves a character who we've already filmed who is striking a pose that we would like caricatured in several ways. This character has a bit of a snooty edge to them, and you, the artist says nothing, but attempts to be patient while drawing them in line with their irritating requests. We'd mostly be capturing your eyes at various levels of waning patience looking over the drawing board at this character (and perhaps some shots over your shoulder) - we may also capture your hand drawing these works as well.

If you are interested please contact us with samples of your work and a photo of yourself, and we'll give you more details about the film and discuss fair payment for your.
