If you're a creative model or actor looking for a fun project to collaborate on, I may have one for you. I'm an established advertising photographer working on personal project entitled "Properties" that will involve some creative improvisation with props.

The shoots will be in my downtown Tigard commercial photo studio, just a short walk from the Tigard Transit Center and plentiful parking.

I am compensating all my partners by providing high-resolution images for their portfolios. No one is getting paid including me. It's purely an artistic endeavor.

If you shoot me an email, I'll send you more detailed information about the project. I've gotten quite a few creative people to volunteer but I still have a few slots open. The shoots will continue through the end of August and will result in some sort of published or exhibited material.
