We are currently fostering a sweet, adult dog. She is fabulous with people, though she should be in a single dog home. The fostering aspect was sudden and we are not dog trainers. She understands common commands and has a great appreciation for kisses and cuddles. She will need a bit of work and training, so financially you should be stable to tend to her needs. She is small and skinny as she appears to have been starved, email for photos of you are seriously interested. I would like to discuss in length the needs of the dog and your ability to tend to her as she seems to have an abusive past. You must have PATIENCE and TIME for her. I will not let her go home with just anyone and there will be a rehoming fee to ensure she goes to a home that can afford to take care of her. Email me so we can talk about her likes, dislikes, personality, and habits to see if you are right for.
