Is your business data stored in different programs or in different places? Does it take a lot of time and manual effort to produce reports and presentations?

You know you have all the data. You just want it to work for you, rather than you working for it.

Some examples of what you'd like to have:

- * One business application giving you easy access to several sources of data.
- * Standardized and non-duplicated data entry.
- * Automated data management tasks.
- * Custom reporting.

Whether your data is in a spreadsheet, database, or text files, I can help you get at it, track it, and manage it.

With 18 years experience in computer technology, I am an expert in developing business applications for better information management. By creating custom business applications, using Excel or Access, I can make your data management life easier by automating processes, reducing tedious and duplicating tasks, and putting you in closer touch with your data.

Please reply to the email link above, and start taking charge of your data.
