Are you on a tight budget and without a wedding planner? I may be of assistance. I planned my own destination wedding to Europe, had my reception for family and friends locally and have planned numerous family gatherings in which venues and caterers were booked. I am the logistics queen and may be able to provide you assistance in the beginning, middle, or final stages of planning your big day. Because I love wedding planning so much as a hobby I keep myself informed of the latest trends (coming and going). At the worst, I can help you by bouncing sound, cost effective, creative, and valid ideas for your consideration.

~~I charge by the hour and if we choose to work together on a mid to long term basis a fixed rate can be set. Please email me if you are interested. Thank you for your time and congratulations on your~~
