I have a tryout in Orlando for a vocal group at Disney in August and I could use some help honing up on my skills. It's been a few years since I did any kind of choral singing so I'm going to be a little rusty.

I basically need help finding the correct key that I sing in, getting back into sight-reading, figuring out the best vocal warm-ups and helping me find a great 16-bar tryout song.

The audition is August 17th and the callbacks are August 18th so I need to get started quickly.

I'm usually off work by noon everyday and can meet any day during the week or whenever on the weekends.

I'm not sure what the going rate is for something like this but maybe we can discuss it. I don't make much but this audition is kind of important to.
