*FERTILE QUAIL EGGS .. FOR HATCHING, EATING OR PICKLING JUST $2.00 PER DOZEN
 ALSO HAVE CHICKS AVAILABLE $2.50 EACH

*I also have a few 4 month old adults that are breeding and laying eggs for sale $9.00 each

For hatching eggs, you will need to have either an incubator or a broody bantam hen.

Incubation Time: Texas A & M Quail Hatching Eggs will hatch in about 18 days.

Temperature/Humidity: Texas A & M Quail Hatching Eggs will hatch best if incubated at 100 degrees F, decreasing to 98.5 degrees F during the final three days of incubation. Humidity should be kept at 45-55% until day 14, when it should be raised to 55-65% until the chicks hatch. Turning the eggs 3 times a day for the first 14 days is a solid practice. After day 14, stop turning the eggs.

Serious Inquires ONLY.. Please don't waste your time or my time if you are not seriously.
