Paid Psychology Research Study on Visual Perception!(Northeastern University)

**IF YOU HAVE PARTICIPATED IN ANY OF OUR OTHER SIEGEL VISION STUDIES, OR HAVE PREVIOUSLY USED A MIRROR STEREOSCOPE, YOU ARE INELIGIBLE TO PARTICIPATE*****

A psychology research lab at Northeastern University is looking for individuals age 18-65 to participate in a paid study about visual perception.

Participation in this research involves viewing images on a screen, answering questions about the images, and filling out a few brief surveys.

To participate in this study, you must have normal or corrected-to-normal vision (no glasses), be a native speaker of English, and never have been diagnosed with a psychiatric illness.

Eligible participants will be paid $10 per hour of participation.

The study consists of one session that is approximately 4 hours long.

If you are interested in participating, please contact our research team
