I'm going to try this one last time because I had a bunch of people who responded to my ad cancel on me at the last minute which cost me allot of gas!

I'm driving from Burlington, VT (stopping in Atlanta first for a couple of hours) then to Houston / Austin, TX by the end of this month. Im looking for someone to join me on my trip thats trying to get to TX or anywhere on the way (or farther west from TX if you have the gas money to cover). Im looking for someone to go half on gas, tolls, to help drive (must have valid drivers license and please don't tell me you don't have one or can't help drive at the last min) & any other expenses if needed. I have a Chevy Cargo Van with an enclosed utility trailer. Im trying to be in Houston as soon as possible. I had some people respond to my ad before but bailed out in me at the last minute, so please no games and be 100% sure. So if your interested in getting down that way or just need some items transported southwest or farther then email me or text me. Thank!
