Worm Castings (aka vermicast) are produced during the process of breaking down of natural materials by worms. Worm Castings can be used as an amendment to potting soil or by itself. Castings can also be added to water to create "compost tea" so it can be used in a liquid form.

Castings can be used on trees, vegetables, fruits and flowers. Castings will never burn plants like other fertilizers, so you can use as much as you want as often as you want. Castings are water soluble, do not contain chemicals and are kid, pet and environmentally friendly.
