Hi! We are looking for a college student aged part-time caretaker to watch our 2 year old daughter. I have recently been hired for a full-time job as a manager and my husband works full-time in a shift work position. We would need someone to work on a schedule, that we aren't quite sure what it will be. For now we know we need someone to pick up our daughter from daycare on Mondays so we would need you to help with the house at 3pm, pick her up by 5pm and then I will be home by 6:30pm. Prefer someone with experience but we would really like someone who is in the childhood development track at one of the universities... We recently found out that I am pregnant with our second child. Job security for you! I need someone to start on August 17th, if possible.

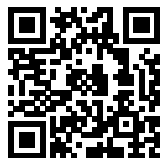

Pay will be negotiable and can be paid by check, cash or credit card. Your schedule needs to be somewhat flexible. Must have a reliable form of transportation, non-smoker, ok with a dog, errand running and activity with our little one. We would also like for you to do some laundry, light cooking and keeping the house tidy. First Aid, AED and CPR are a plus.

Please text me if you are interested. Look forward to hear from!
