Hello I am an Advanced Hacker now doing freelance work for himself after 15 years in the system security field. During which time I held a an active CISSP certification. I only work remotely and DO NOT meet in person for security purposes to protect myself and my clients.

The current services that I offer are the exploitation of all variations of Social Media accounts and Email Accounts in addition to individual computer systems and networks. Remote exploitation of Android and Iphones. Assistance with basic hardware and software configuration and installation, skip-tracing and background checks and location of individuals to geographical areas based upon their digital and online activity. Plus a whole list of tech-related skills and problem solving that I have encountered in my years working in the system security field and my practical experience as a hacker. Feel free to text me at

I also offer education and training on all these subjects.

BELOW IS AN IN-DEBTH LIST OF MY SKILLS AND THINGS THAT I AM FAMILIAR WITH:

Advanced and basic penetration testing.

The installation and configuration and use of Kali Linux,Whonix,and Windows operating systems.

Installation and use of Tor program and network for anonymous web-surfing.

Website and database hacking with basic and advanced SQL injection and the use of Sqlmap.

Wifi and router exploitation.

Virtual and physical credit-card cloning.

The use of trojan backdoors,and virtual proxies.

The configuration and use of Virtual Private Network services to tunnel network traffic to remain anonymous and to bypass internet service provider's filter of network traffic.

Anything else, just feel free to ask if I can help.
