I have for sale a 2011 Husqvarna WR300. This bike was a starter bike for me and has under 150hrs total on the bike. I have added a lot of upgrades to the bike since I bought it new. Since it was more or less a starter bike for me, it obviously has crashed a few times, but the bike is incredibly sturdy. Here are the upgrades:

- recluse clutch
- radiator guards
- pipe guard
- flex bars
- KTM carburetor and jet kit
- venting gas cap

With the upgraded carburetor, this bike is a rocket ship. Last on the dino, it posted 55.6 horsepower and that will compete with almost any 4stroke out there. I moved from Phoenix a little over a year ago and it hasn't run since, but there have been no fluids in the bike and will start right up when added. I just don't have the time to ride anymore and it needs a good home.

Well below book value with all of the upgrades. I will consider other offers and I do have title in.
