I am gauging interest in anyone who may be interested in my show car for sale.

It was a special order top of the line (GLS Trim) which I added almost $20k in about 7-10 years of showing the car. It is currently in decent condition, but needs some TLC. Has about 140k miles, AC doesn't work but I believe it needs to be recharged. The gas gauge isn't always accurate (most likely needs a new module in tank that measures gas, can't think of part name right now) Does have rust on driver side door sill. I have 20 in rims on it right now, but will also throw in the factory highly polished rims, 2 different body kits, SLP exhaust, air filter, Kenwood 25th aniversary head unit, custom mounted tv in center console, wood grain interior, back up camera that projects on a 3.5in screen built into the review mirror, spoiler, 2 sets of fog lights, box build out in back to hold 3 12 in speakers (no subs included) with a 1000 watt Alpine v12 expert amp. side markers, leather interior, eibach lowering springs, 35% tint all around except for a replaced passenger door window I had replaced. I am the original owner and have 99% of all the service records from oil changes to warranty work, to all the receipts for the modifications.

Engine should be clean, and free of defects, transmission should be fine as well. Battery may need to be charged as it is only driven for emissions every 2 years (sitting since 12/06) Passes emissions every time. I am not sure if it will pass inspection with the modifications, but I can certainly try for anyone interested.

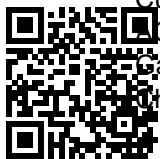

This car should not be purchased if looking for a daily driver. This is a show car, or for someone looking for a project. It does run good, but again needs some TLC.

UPDATE 12/04/13 Just had new spark plugs, and wires installed, running a Sea Foam treatment through gas tank, new battery, and will be going for emissions by 12/27. I may have the fuel pump replaced as this will fix the gas gauge, but if so, the price may go up slightly.

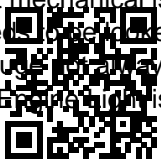

If you are interested please let me know, can send pics but are not recent. SERIOUS BUYERS only, please. I am not pressed on selling my car, so please do not waste my time.

Current mechanical issues
